THE WEEKLY BULLETIN

SATURDAY, SEPT 8, 1855.

The editor of the Democrat was reared a Whig; he became a Democrat and supported Jackson; he turned Whig again and supported Clay; and suddenly he was transformed to a Democrat again between two days in the sumner of 1844.

In his youth he lived in Kentucky and was strongly for slavery; he removed to Indiana and was a notorious Freesoiler there; he returned to Kentucky but profested that he wouldn't bring up his family in a slave State; and now he is an ultra pro-slavery man.

He once belonged to a respectable denomination of Protestant Christians and used to exhort and preach to them; he joined another denomination of Protestants and preached to them; and now he is vibrating like a pendulum between Roman Catholicism and Atheism.

We believe that the Germans don't admit any natives into their society of Turners, but they ought at least to make an exception in favor of our neighbor.

We hope for the sake of the editor of the Journal that the penance for lying ordained by his church is not very severe.—Democrat.

If the editor of the Democrat were required to give his proof of our lying, he would no doubt claim that he heard so from "an old and respectable citizen." To be called a liar by him is like being called lean by Calvin Edson or fat by Daniel Lambert. Next to his late candidate for Governor, he is the worst liar in the West. He is supposed to be the famous chap who said, "my father can whip any fellow in creation and I can whip my father," meaning that his father was the devil and he could whip him in lying. And we believe he can, for he thinks lies, talks lies, writes lies, acts lies, vomits lies, and sweats lies. He emits lies, as a mass of carrion emits stench. If he were cut into a myriad of pieces, each piece would start instantly up, a reckless and full-grown liar. If the devil is his father, Old Nick ought henceforth to be called the grandfather of lies, for he is the grandfather of even a huger brood than he is the father of.

On Tuesday afternoon last there was a terrible accident at the office of the Times, in New York. Two young men, named Stephenson and Timpson, were riding from the ground floor in the upper story in the sliding box, in which were the "forms" of the New York Observer. When at the fourth story, fifty-five feet above the ground, one of the hoisting chains stuck fast, and, in attempting to pry the same loose, it broke, and the box, forms, and the two men named fell to the bottom with great force. The men were astride the forms, and, on striking the floor, the hooks and sharp edges of the Duncan, of this city, and Mr. King, of Georgia. iron pierced and mutilated their bodies in a shocking manner. Stephenson soon died, and the other was so mutilated that recovery was pronounced impossible.

SECRET TREATY BETWEEN ENGLAND, FRANCE, AND DOMINICA .- The New York Herald learns, "from a reliable correspondent at Madrid," that a private treaty has been made by France, Engand, and Spain with the Dominican Government, in which the latter, for a certain consideration, has pledged itself to the following conditions, viz:

No settlers from the United States, of any class or color, shall be encouraged to hold lands or take up their residence in St. Domingo.

No land for mining purposes, factories, or coal depots shall be sold, leased, or ceded, either to private companies or to the American Government, without the prior consent of the French and British Governments.

The Louisville Journal publishes a paragraph concerning some case of rape which happened ewhere, and credits the same to this pa with the remark that the writer must have been hard run for an item when he penned the para-graph alluded to. That item never appeared in our we had never seen it anywhere until we read it in the Journal, no such case ever occurred here, and no such persons as those mentioned reside in this neighborhood. Will the editor of the Journal correct the mistake?

Danville (Ky.) Tribune.

Of course we shall do so with pleasure. The paragraph alluded to should have been credited to the Danville (Indiana) Tribune. The mistake was made by our printers, and we had not seen it until our attention was called to it by the Tribune.

MEXICO.-From official documents published in the National Intelligencer, it appears that order has been already restored, for the present in the capital of Mexico; that Gen. Carrera has been elected President, pro tem.; and that a Congress was about to be convoked in performance of the fifth article of the plan of Ayutla. which has been adopted as a basis for the political reorganization of the Republic.

The Central Ohio Railroad Company has ordered the extension of this road to Kirkwood, opposite Wheeling

These stanzas are from the pen of a Scuthern poet, who has several times enriched our columns, and who can make his name a portion of the riches of the country:

[For the Louisville Bulletin.]

TO * * *. "FIDUCIA."

My soul was sad until we met Until thy voice I heard, Whose starry music thrills me yet; And ne'er was song of bird. That heralded the day-dawn near, More welcome to thelistening ear Of him who, tossed on couch of pain, Had prayed that morn might come again

I looked on thee, and in thine eyes And on thy blushing cheek
I read my fate with sweet surprise,
And dared at once to speak To thee of that wild, thrilling dream Of which thou wast the pure, bright theme, And tell thee of the love which I Must bear to thee until I die.

The memory of thy thrilling glance
The clasp of thy fair hand,
Come back to me in holy trance This eve in this far land. This eve in this far land.
I think of thee, and thy sweet smile
H aunteth me with its witching wile,
Thy smile which unto me was given
To fashion dreams of love and Heaven.

Oh, fair and pure as yonder star, Which gems the brow of night, Say, dost thou in thy home afar Think on me with delight?

Hope fans my brow with unseen wings, And unto me sweet promise brings; I know thy young heart gives to me A love as deep as mine for thee—

A love which time shall not estrange And absence alter not,
A holy spell which shall not change
And cannot be forgot. Good night! good night! in happy dream Thine eye, belov'd, on me shall gleam, Thy smile shall haunt me, and thy voice Shall whisper me of fadeless joys.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 21, 1855.

"MEMORIA." I send thee back this tress of hair. Which shaded once thy brow so fair.
Take back thy gift, since it reminds
That not as then a warm tie binds
Thy heart to mine, thy heart which seemed Pure as a child's, and which I dreamed The while it throbbed against my own

Take back thy gift, but hope in vain—
If thou dost hope—that e'er again
The dove of peace will seek a nest,
Beautiful girl, within thy breast.

The thought which theilled thy againt The thoughts which thrilled thy spirit then.
A spectral band, shall haunt thee when
The fires of some less holy love
Shall wreathe their win above.

I shudder when I think that thou uldst held so light a sacred vow; It thrills me with a nameless fear To know that thou, whose pearly tear When unto thee I breathed adieu
Fell on my cheek like Heaven's sweet dew,
Couldst listen to the demon pride And cast truth's pearl aside

So fair, so seeming pure that all

Who meet thee own thy witching thrall, And yetso false, if I had dramed Thou coulds be thus, then had I deemed The fleed had whispered in my ear A lie-first born in that dark sphere Where the unhappy shadows hover O'er nether gloom forever

Take back thy gift; I do not ask That when the giddy crowd shall bask Beneath the bright light of thine eye, And ownits wild, weird witchery, That thou shouldst give to me a thought; No, let me be by thee forgot, For henceforth thou shalt only be The phantom of a dream to me.

SHOOTING MATCH .- We stated a few days ago that a great pigeon shooting match was on the tapis. We learn that it has been concluded, and is to come off at Cincinnati on the 1st of October next. The parties are Mr. Blanton The number of birds is one hundred for each .-Heavy bets have been made on it.

Among the patents granted last week were two to Richard Ray, of Lewisport, Ky., for an improved mode of operating and dumping earth-cars, and for improvement in operating dumping-cars, and one to Joseph A. Victor, of Montgomery county, Ky, for, for improvement in brick machines.

ADVANCE IN POWDER -The Pittsburg Gazette notices an advance of 50 cents per keg in powder and a large advance in saltpetre, caused by the continuation of the European war, which has caused a large export demand for the article. The Gazette quotes plasting at $4 and rifle at $5 25.

The Atlantic arrived at New York at half past three on Thursday evening, and at ten minutes before three a dispatch, containing the most important of her news, was received by the Chamber of Commerce in Cincinnati. We did not get the news here till nine o'clock at night. Who's to blame?

The editor of the Democrat talks about men that it will do to tie to. We don't think that he will do for anybody but the sheriff to tie to. We are afraid the sheriff will have to tie to him one of these Fridays.

The case of Jno. W. Tompkins, charged with shooting Wm. Gray at the First ward polls on the day of the last May election, occupied the City Court nearly all day yesterday. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The Democrats of Massachusetts have nominated E. D. Balch, of Springfield, as their candidate for Governor. He is also the candidate of the Anti-Maine lawites.

A German boy, in the employ of Messrs. Hull & Bro., printers, died very suddenly yesterday in the office. He had been in bad health fer some time.

L. H. Hitchcok has been elected Secretary and Superintendent of the Nashville Chamber of Commerce.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MACTERS.

The river was still rising at the rate of about half an inch an hour. There were then 8 feet water in the canal and 6 feet on the falls. All the boats that came down went over the falls.

The Cincinnati Gazette, of yesterday says: The river is still rising rapidly, and from present appearances, the rise will be unusually large for this season of the year. All the tributaries above are flowing out bank-full. ove are flowing out

We received no St. Louis mail yesterday. The Cumberland was falling on Wednesday evening with scant 3 feet water on the shoals. The Ben. Coursin left Nashville on Wednesday with the last of the old cotton.

The Wm. Garvin, Capt. Sullivan, leaves for Henderson this evening. We learn that the officers of the Garvin received the strongest assurances from the people along shore of their support and patronage.

The Peter Tellon leaves for New Orleans this evening. The Tellon has been newly painted and thoroughly overhauled. She is a boat of the very largest class and her cabins are well furnished.

The steamer Altamont will leave for Wheel ing to-day and the Magnolia for Nashville.

There were 13 deaths at Memphis last week. Five were from yellow fever, but they had all occurred on steamboats.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT ON THE STONINGTON RAILROAD .- The circumstances of this affair, of which we have already been advised by teleegraph, are thus stated in the New York Tribune of Wednesday:

During Monday evening a rail was taken up from the track of the Stonington Railroad, on the Zaccheus bridge, about four miles this side of South Kingston, and laid lengthwise in the centre of the track. The bridge is situated in what is termed the great swamp, and about two miles from any human habitation; it is about twenty-five feet long, and spans the Pawcatuck river; the bridge is eight or ten feet above the water, which at this place is some six or eight feet in depth. Past the bridge, to the south, on one side of the track, a bank rises seven or eight feet high, and on the other side an embankment sloped down some feet to the swamp. This was the spot selected for one of the most brutal and cowardly crimes that can disgrace a civilized community; the rail on the left side of the track was removed, evidently with the intention track was removed, evidently with the intention of throwing the steamboat passenger train from Boston for Stonington off the bridge and into the river. At 8:20 P. M. the doomed train came along to the spot; the night was dark, the moon had not yet risen, and the danger was unseen. The train, consisting of eight baggage-flats and two second class and five passenger cars, containing nearly five hundred persons, was proceeding at a pace of 15 to 18 miles an hour, when it reached the bridge. The engineer felt the sharp jolt as his locomotive came to the gap, and at the same moment reversed the engine. Instead of running off the bridge into the river, the engine jolted over the sleepers for the river, the engine jolted over the sleepers for some six or eight rods, and then burying one of its driving-wheels in the bank came to a sudden halt. The concussion threw the baggage-crates off from the trucks, and eight trucks were thrown down the embankment. The two first passenger-cars were thrown from the track and roof and sides were crushed in and dashed to atoms; two first-class cars were thrown off the track, but not much injured, while the other three first-class cars remained on the track.

Eight persons were severely wounded. One named Geo. Simmons, of Rhode Island, has suffered amoutation of both legs.

The following letter, from a gentleman in Fort Smith, to the editor of the Little Rock True Democrat is conclusive on the gold hunt. It is all a humbug.

FORT SMITH, Aug. 16, 1855.

The gold humbug has exploded. A portion of the Fort Smith company got in day before yesterday, and report that there is no gold in any of the country west of this place, about which so many stories originated. The whole company will be here in a few days, and what-ever others at a distance may think, the people of this place and vicinity are satisfied to remain at home and attend to their ordinary avocations. I write this to satisfy those hundreds and thousands who were only waiting to hear from the Fort Smith company to go or remain.

FIGHT WITH AN ELK .- The Ohio State Journal says that on Monday evening last, John Steiner, herdsman to Mr. M. L. Sullivant, had a desperate fight with a buck elk. Mr. S was at tempting to drive away the cows, when the elk. which has always associated with the cows, constituting himself leader of the flock, and making them go where he pleased in the pas ture, shook his head, stamped his feet, showed that he did not wish the cattle to away. Mr. S. picked up a stick, and the elk, with his hair bristled up, plunged at him. Mr. S. struck the animal an meffectual blow, and then seizing him by the horns and nose, attempted to protect himself from the thrusts of his tremendous horns, and continued the struggle for more than an hour, when he fainted, and the elk, thinking him dead, left him. Mr. S. was hardly able, when he recovered his senses, to drag himself to his cabin, and there he managed—finding that owing to internal hemorrhage his breathing was becoming difficult, and there was no one near to help him-to saddle his horse and ride Franklinton, a distance of two miles. His injuries are thus described:

One prong of the antler entered his chest, a little below the heart, lacerating the left lung, the other piercing the right. A dreadful gash, some five inches long, on the right thigh, barely missed the femoral artery, and the back and body are very much bruised.

The elk has always previous to this occurrence been peaceable. He is described as a noble specimen of his race, proud and erect in his carriage, and crowned with an enormous pair of spreading antlers.—Cin. Com.

Arrest on Charge of Robbing the Mail.—Jerome W. Gearhart, assistant postmaster at Circleville, was brought to this city yesterday, under arrest, charged with taking letters from the mail; one of which contained $1,030, and the other $30. The arrest was made by Deputy Marshals Ellis and Couch, of this city, and Doan, of Circleville. The case will be heard this morning before Commissioner Warden.—Cin. Gaz.

[From the Baltimore Patriot, Sep. 4.] FROM NORFOLK .- Dr. Powell has just arrived from Norfolk, and reports the fever on the increase. He states that it was rumored that sixty deaths had occurred in Norfolk and four in Portsmouth in the 24 hours preceding the sailin Portsmouth in the 24 hours preceding the sailing of the boat; that fifteen new cases had been received into the hospital. Many corpses were waiting interment, which was delayed by the want of coffins; 140 had been sent down from Richmond. The Howard Association have determined to establish an asylum for the children that had been made orphans by the pestilence.

The Norfolk Argus of yesterday morning has the following paragraphs:

Our Condition.—We have now about 700 people left in the city, and among these the mortality is awful—worse than anything yet written of the visitations of the plague. On Sunday there were upwards of fifty burials, and what is the most painful part of the matter, is that all the bodies were not buried that ought to have been; such is the demand of dead matterility fearly first. such is the demand of dead mortality for its final home. Two doors from where we are writing there lies a festering corpse, which has been decomposing for nearly forty-eight hours. The house is empty, with the exception of its dead occupant—the fourth corpse in the house within a week. But one or two children of the af-flicted left, and they in the hospital sick. The Petersburg (Va.) Intelligencer of Sept.

In Portsmouth there were thirty-two burials on Sunday and eight more coffins ordered to be ade by 9 o'clock that evening.

There were more than a dozen persons buried in Norfolk and Portsmouth on Sunday, about about two feet below the surface of the earth,

The letters from Norfolk are filled with de scriptions of the most heart-rending scenes A correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch write:

"Scenes of affliction, continue to multiply as "Scenes of affliction continue to multiply as the fatal fever progresses. Families are broken up; children made orphans; wives husbandless and childless; widows lose their only stay and support; buried with their negroes! O poverty! O desolation! O pestilence! Well do ye go hand in had together; and faithfully have ye performed your work! Mr. Z. Sykes, the assistant inspector of streets gives a charge. sistant inspector of streets, gives us a gloomy picture of the melancholy scenes he is doomed to witness in his daily rounds. The other day he had occasion to inspect a lot or Charlotte street. He found in the yard three curly-headed little children, romping about, rolling on the ground, with unkempt hair and dirty, tattered garments. He inquired for their father 'Pa—pa is dead.' 'Then, where is your mother?' 'Ma—ma is dead too!' 'Yes,' added the youngest, 'and a big ugly black man came and carried them away, directly they were dead!'
'Good God!' continued Mr. Sykes, shocked at the scene; 'and who have you to take care of you?' 'Nobody, sir.' 'Who gives you anything to eat?' 'Mary, the colored woman next door, gives us some bread every day.' Never, said Mr. Sykes, have my feelings been so pained—the forlorn condition of the little orphans, their tender years, and childish insensibility of their great loss, made me sick at heart, and I could not restrain my tears. We need not add that the bereaved innocents were taken in charge by the Howard Association, and will be duly provided for."

We stated on Monday that the Breckinridge Coal Company had sold 200 tons of their coal at $14 per ton, delivered from the lighter. They have to-day sold the cargo to arrive by the Harriet Stephenson, from New Orleans, at the same price. Both these purchases are for the purchased for the purchase of the purchase coal is the best for lubricating purposes ever dis-covered, and is used exclusively on the English and French railways, when it can be obtained. An oil-mill is now being put up on the Company's property at Cloverport by a company which has a contract for coal with the Breckinridge, and the movement hrs produced considerable sensation in that quarter. The machinist of the Connelton cotton factory has made an experiment with a barrel of oil made from the coal of the Bog Head (Scotland) mine, and he pronounces it the best oil he ever used, as the machinery upon which it is used never heats.

Another Draft on Georgia.—It is currently reported that four hundred thousand dollars of the notes of the Atalanta and Interior banks of Georgia, owned by George Smith of this city, will leave Galena to-day for redemption in coin at the counter over which they are nominally Thus the run continues, and thus the gold makes a brisk circuit from New York to Atalanta, and from Atalanta to Illinois; while we, the representatives and exponents feelings of the people, clap our hands and laugh to see the fun go on. The matter does not end here with this last draft upon the strong box of the Georgia bank. The war, our readers may rely upon it, will be continued until every dol-lar of this currency is driven from circulation; and then it may cease, but only to be renewed whenever Atalanta and Interior reappear.

Chicago Tribune, Monday. Whisky .- It may astonish our Maine Law friends to learn that over 29,000 barrels of whisky was imported into this city for the twelve menths ending Sept. 1, 1855. Yet this is a fact, as appears from the records of imports on the books of the Chamber of Commerce.—
We have no idea how many barrels additional have been manufactured in the State, or how much has been imported at other points on the Cumberland, Tennessee, and Mississippi rivers, but we have no doubt that if the whole was ed up it would amount to more than any one State ought to consume for medical pur-poses, and leave the inference that a portion of it has been taken just for the fun of the thing. SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 8, 1855.

INTERNAL SUFFERINGS OF RUSSIA FROM THE WAR .- In a late number of Blackwood, we find an article written by a young Englishman who resided for many years on an estate in Russia on which there were thirteen hundred serfs. The article is designed to exhibit the great pecuniary losses and sufferings resulting to the people of Russia from the progress of the war; and the statements are based upon the experience of the business on the particular estate on which this young Englishman was employed. We are told that the persons who are the greatest sufferers by the war are the landed proprietors; and that, if the war continues, they will be brought to ruin. The particular estate, to which reference is made, consists of 40,000 acres of land, worked by 1,300 serfs; and before the war it yielded an income of six thousand pounds sterling. Since the war, the prices of the products of the farm have fallen so that there is a loss on Linseed of

500 Wheat " -Wool 200

£2,100 Total loss on the farm products, This statement shows that the money price of the product of farm labor in Russia has been by the war reduced about 34 per cent.; and this is all it shows. It does not prove that Russia is less able to prosecute the war with vigor or effect; on the contrary the redundancy of supply of provisions, induced by the inability to ship them to other countries, will operate favorably to the government by diminishing the cost of feeding the armies that it will become compelled to support. The allies, more than Russia, will feel the evil of the increased price of wheat in consequence of the withdrawal of the usual supplies of that commodity from the Baltic and the Black Seas. But the young English writer, while showing the pecuniary sufferings of the landholders, reveals the strength of the nation. He lets us behind the scenes and shows us the machinery by which Russia conducts the details of the war. It appears that the Southern provinces of the Empire, in consideration of their vicinity to the seat of war, are exempted from the military draft of thirty men in the thousand to be raised in the nor hern part of the empire. But, though they are exempted from this militia draft, they are subjected to exactions called voluntary contributions. These contributions may be hard, and to us, who are accustomed to a different system of conducting our commissary and quartermasters' department, must seem tyrannical and unjust, yet we cannot fail to perceive the vast power for defense such a system must afford to a government that practices it. The estate to which we refer had in the spring of 1854 to send forty oxen as rations for the troops then in the Danubian provinces; at the same time there were required five wagons with a pair of horses and a driver to each, all to be returned at the end of the war. These were for the transport of baggage and troops upon an emergency; and it was upon them that the armies that fought the battle of Inkerman were transported. In the autumn of the same year, there were required from the same farm 18 pounds of biscuit per serf, or 11,700 pounds. Instead of this, the proprietor offered 18,000 pounds, which was made and dispatched in three weeks. The fact that the proprietor, of his own accord, added 35 per cent. to the contribution, is a stirking evidence of the zeal these suffering landholders feel in the war. It is a fact strongly corroborative of the statements that have reached us on this side of the such gross receipts shall have exceeded $7,500, Atlantic, that the war is popular with the peothe postmaster shall advertise once a week.

2. Such advertisements are to be inserted in le of Russia. While the preparation of the biscuit was going on, there came an order for ten wagons, with a pair of horses and a driver for each, to be delivered in ten days, as the case was urgent. These demands were made in inconvenient as they were at that season, they were promptly supplied. Twenty pair of exen were required to transport the biscuit, and they were absent four months. Later in the season. there was made another requisition for oxen to serve as rations; but in this case, so many having been sent with the biscuit, and the murrain being bad among the cattle, the proprietor forwarded to the proper authorities £90 sterling in money'instead of the oxen. In the April of the present year, says the writer, "double the quantity of biscuit contributed last year was required, and, as I traveled through the country in the month of May, I saw thousands of tons piled outside of the towns, ready for transportation to the army; which of course has to be done by the proprietors and peasants of the Crown." A state of war must be a state of suffering to any nation, but it is more decidedly so to a nation whose territory is the theater of war. The invasion of Russian territory and the blockade of her seaports must be disastrous to Russian commerce, and will have the effect to retard her progress in wealth, power, and civilization. In fact the Allies boldly avow it to be their purpose to cripple the power and stop the growth of Russia in wealth and power; and this war is the means they have adopted for carrying out their purpose. Eventuate as it may, Russia cannot fail for many years to experience the injurious effects of this most exhausting war, but whether at last the injury will be greater to Russia than to England and France is a problem that time alone can determine. Whether England can maintain the integrity of her institutions under the burden of such an increased taxation as a twenty or thirty years' war must necessarily bring by an increase of the national debt is also a question in political philosophy which must be left to the determination of time. She seems to be in a fair way taxation that a people can stand or will bear. To some extent, the Eastern war rep: esents the antagonism of physical and pecuniary power. yellow fever. The Russians are defending their soil from invaders, their wives and children from violence, their hearth-stones and their altars from desecration; and, to do this, they are content to contribute their property, their labor, and their lives. They substitute for taxation in money personal services and personal contributions of all the material required in conducting the war. The nation, it is true, will come out of war crippled in its resources, but unincumbered with a great national debt; while her enemies will in all time to come have to bear the burden of enormous taxation to pay the annual interest on the vast sums of money that have to be borrowed for the prosecution of this most expensive war. The recent loans that have been negotiated by France show that the credit of the Allies is so good as to command money very freely, and in any desirable amounts; still we think that such is the capacity of Russia, with her seventy millions of people, for defense, that her invaders will at last tire of borrowing money in the vainhope of compelling her to submit to an ignominious restriction of her sovereignty. We confess we are curious to know how many millions of dollars must be expended by the Allies before Russia will consent to let them dictate how many ships-of-war she may keep afloat in the

NEW STEAM-ENGINE-A NOVEL MACHINE. There is now put up and almost ready for operation at the patent double washboard manufactory of T. E. Burke & Co., on Main street, a novel steam-engine, the invention of our townsman, C. Spencer, in connection with Mr. Burke. In construction it differs entirely from any other machine used for the application of steam-power. It is exceedingly simple, consisting only of the cylinder, shaft, arms, and necessary pipes in connection with the boiler. The cylinder is seventeen inches in diameter, with a vacuum between the sides of less than four inches. In the cylinder play the arms attached to the shaft, and the motion is obtained by applying the steam to the arms. The steam used in the cylinder escapes back into the boiler. Five thousand revolutions per minute are obtained, and seven horse power is claimed. The whole machine when completed will not weigh over 100 pounds, and its cost is very insignificant.

At the request of the parties interested, we refrain from giving any o'her than the above exceedingly imperfect and hardly intelligible description for the present. We hope, however, to be able to furnish in a few days such an account as mechanics and men of science can understand. * Steam was raised on Wednesday last and everything operated beautifully; to the astonishment of the many incredulous, and to the entire satisfaction of all. To-morrow a second opportunity will be given to the public to witthe performance of the machine.

If, as we have every reason to think from what ve are told, complete success crowns Mr. Spencer's efforts, he will have enrolled his name among the very foremost of inventor, and will, together with Mr. Burke, most assuredly reap an abundant pecuniary return.

The machine, which is the very first, the very model itself, was made at the foundery of the Messrs. Neal. It is something unknown in the history of mechanies, that the very model of an invention should be applied, as this will be, immediately to work.

POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT. - Advertising Letters .- The Union publishes the rules and regulations for advertising uncalled-for letters. They are based upon the provisions of the fifth section of the act approved March 3, 1851, and

1. When the gross receipts of the post-office for the next preceding quarter shall not have exceeded $500, the postmaster shall advertise such uncalled for letters once in six weeks only; when such gross receipts shall have exceeded $500, and have not exceeded $1,000, the postmaster shall advertise once a month only; such gross receipts shall have exceeded $1,000, and shall not have exceeded $7,500, the postmaster shall advertise twice a moth; and when one newspaper only, which must be printed in the city, town, or village in which the post of-fice is situated, and must have the largest circulation within the range of delivery of said office of any paper issued weekly, or oftener, printed was urgent. These demands were made in in such city, town, or village. Should the pub-August, just when harvest was going on, and, lisher of such paper refuse to give such list of letters one insertion, at one cent for each letter the postmaster will designate for this service some other paper published in the same place. He is also required to post in a conspicuous place in his office a copy of such list on the day or the day after the publication thereof.

3. If there be no newspaper printed in the city, town, or village where such post office is kept, or if the publishers of all the papers so printed shall refuse to advertise the letters for the price above mentioned, then manuscript lists of them are to be made out, and posted at such public places in the town and neighborhood as shall appear best adapted for the information of the parties concerned.

Refused letters are not to be advertised, nor those which the postmaster expects will be immediat ly taken from the post office. 5. Drop and box letters, circulars, free packets containing printed documents, speeches, or other printed matter, are not to be advertised. 7. When authority for the publication of lists of foreign letters in a newspaper printed in a for-eign language is deemed advisable, the postmaster must make a special application for the necessary order to publish in such paper.

8. All orders for publication of these lists of uncalled-for letters in more than one newspaper are vacated and annulled. The present law authorizes a single publication in one paper only.

9. When daily, semi-weekly, tri-weekly, or weekly papers are issued from the same office, the proprietor must not be allowed to aggregate the circulation of such papers, but the single circulation of each issue of the particular paper for which he claims the publication. Whether the paper is issued daily, tri-weekly, semi-weekly, or weekly must be shown, and the advertisement inserted in the particular paper which has the largest circulation.

The number of males born is always greater than the females by about 4 per cent. At 20 years of age this preponderance is entirely lost, and there are more females than males. At 40 years the balance is again the other way, and there are more males than females. At 70 the sexes are about even, and the ultimate age of the human being is reached without any decided advantage to either sex. There are now about 430 American women above one hundred years to find and to show what is the utmost limit of of age.

AGRICULTURAL DIVISION OF THE PATENT Office.—The Stripping and Prizing of Tobacco .- The following extract will be read with interest by the cultivators of tobacco, and is copied from the same treatise from which we have already made several selections:

The tobacco should be taken down and packed in bulk, in order that it may be handled in cold weather without breaking. It is then divided by select hands into three classes for stripping; first, that which is of the best colored quality; secondly, that which is somewhat inferior, com-prising the balance of the leaf; thirdly, "lugs," or ground leaves. Some distinguished planters make more classes, but this requires more attention and discrimination, and our laborers are not generally noted for either. It is then sized, and is neatly tied in bundles of four leaves of the first, or six of the second and third classes. At the close of each day's stripping, and often-er if the weather is drying, we bulk down what has been stripped, being careful to pack straight. It is left in this situation until we wish to commence prizing, and then hung, 12 to 15 bundles, on a smooth stick, and hoisted in the barn, the sticks placed six inches apart, the hoister carrying a rule in his hand. It is important to measure, as the order will be more uniform. It should remain until the stems are perfectly dry; after which, it should be taken down for priz ing, as dry as it can be handled without break-It remains in this state a few days, until the leaves are pressed together, and we have soft weather for packing. Each bundle is then carefully straightened, repacked, and heavi-ly weighted. It is then ready for prizing. We should prize in weather when the pliableness of the tobacco will not change. Each bundle should be straight and closely packed in hogsheads in the usual way.

DIGGING FOR HIDDEN TREASURES. - On hursday night, at Charlestown, while several of the watchmen were going their rounds, they heard the sound of pick-axes in Jay street. Upon reaching the place they found three mer busily at work digging in a round hole about eight feet wide and three feet deep. The watchmen inquired of them what they were digging for at that late hour, but received no answer. They attempted to go up to them, when they found their progress retarded by a small wire about the size of a knitting-nee which was stretched around the hole. They asked the men what the wire was for, and again received no answer. The men then ceased work. came outside the line, and commenced conversation with the watchmen. They stated they were Spiritualists, and that the spirit of some person had told them that this spot was once garrisoned by an army, and underneath the foundation (an old wall surrounds the place where they are dig-ging, which was intended for a dwelling house ging, which was intended for a dwelling house some twenty years ago) was hidden treasures in the shape of large sums of money, which they expect to get when they get deep enough. The wire which is placed around the spot, it is supposed, will keep away the evil spirits. They stated that they went on a similar expedition some 20 years ago, and while digging the spirit of a wild horse appeared to the arch provested. of a wild horse appeared to them, and prevented their working; and they thought if they then had the wire stretched about the place they would have been able to continue their work. The men, after concluding their conversation with the watchmen, went back into the hole and com-menced digging again. They are confident they will find the treasures, and probably they will if they dig long enough. One of the men is named Sanborn, living in Somerville, another resides in Boston, and the third in Charlestown.

JOHN McCLINTOCK. - The venerable John McClintock, naval officer of the district of Portsmouth, on Tuesday last, Aug. 28th, entered upon the 95th year of h s age. He is yet in good health, active, and gives regular personal attention to the duties of his office at the custom-house. During the whole of the bad weather of last winter he was absent but one day on account of the storms. In the course of the summer his health has not been quite so good as common, but he has not been confined at home. Until the present summer, he has not been absent from church either forenoon or afternoon, unless the church was closed, for 40 He still retains his faculties, mental as well as physical, in a remarkable degree. His hearing is good, his voice clear, his countenance fair, eyes bright, and his sight as good as most men at 50. He writes a clear hand, and in his conversation shows a good knowledge of the history of the present as well as past times. He has never in his day been under the care of a A most remarkable man-the world may be challenged to produce another man perform-ing personally the daily duties of a responsible public office in the full possession of his faculties, and with five years of a century in age. Portsmouth Journal.

A ROUGH DUEL.—On Tuesday evening last, two young bloods of this city, who had been at variance for some time, on account of reasons best known to themselves, concluded to waive all the unnecessary formalities of the regular duello and to go out and pistol each other in ac cordance with extemporaneous regulations adopted by themselves expressly for the occasion Upon their arrival at the verge of the city some spectators who had accompanied them out endeavored to persuade them to lay aside their pistols and fight a fist fight, but one of them said that he had eaten no dinner and did not feel sufficiently robust for anything of that sort, and as a matter of course, this English ar gument broke up all futher negotiations. then selected a suitable spot, took their posi-tions a few paces apart, drew their revolvers, and commenced firing. One of the parties fired five times and the other twice, the difference being caused by the snapping of one pistol three times. After the firing it was ascertained that neither was hurt, whereupon they returned to the city as socially as they had left it.

We understand from those who witnessed the affair, that both parties behaved with great coolness, and that several of the sho's were grazers. Lex. Observer.

The European war has given rise to an incal-culable number of warlike inventions, scarcely any of which could be brought into practical use under any circumstances. The New York Sun says that a competent corps of engineers are busily employed at Troy, N. Y., in experimenting on several infernal machines which have been recently conceived by the mind of an ingenious Yankee. One of these machines is cannon-proof marine battery, which claims the power of being propelled on the water level or under it at the rate of 20 or 25 miles an hur, and hurling itself against the adversary ship, cutting, tearing, and exploding as it goes, with terrific and irresistible force. No patents have been taken out, and the whole affair is kept as secret as the experiments will permit. Models and drawings of those inventions deemed most valuable have already been dispatched to the Czar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. The Northern Light connected with the steamship Uncle Sam, and brings dates to the 18th ult.

The Northern Light touched at Key West.
The mail steamer Golden Gate left San Francisco on the same day with the Uncle Sam.
The Sonora, with New York dates to the 20th of July, had arrived at San Francisco. The miners continued to do well.

The California wheat crop would yield about 2,000,000 bushels.

The Indian wars were raging in Northern California and Southern Oregon. Twenty-five Americans have been murdered on the Klamath by the Indians. They had also attacked the miners in upper Sacramento; seven Americans were wounded and fifty Indians killed.

At Rancharo a party of Mexican robbers attacked the settlers, killing 80 (?) men and one woman; among the killed was a Mr. Francis, who was plundered of a letter containing $7,000. The robbers were pursued by a party under Sheriff Phenix, when a fight ensued. The sheriff and three of the robbers were killed. A number of the outlaws were afterwards hung by lynch law.

The surveying steamboat Active which went in pursuit of the whaleship Niles supposed to have on board Swan and Clifford the forgers, from Honolulu, overhauled that vessel, but the culprits were not on board.

J. C. Woods, late partner in the Adams' Express Co., absconded on the ship Audubon, bound for Australia. It appears that he has retained $100,000 of the assets of the concern.

A Turk and Frenchman have been detected in counterfeiting gold dust. They say they were employed by the Banking Express Company. The Know-Nothing convention has nominated J. Neely Johnson for Governor.

The sloop-of-war Decatur arrived at Sar Francisco from Puget Sound. A fire at Stockton destroyed property valued at $300,000.

From the Isthmus.—The war still rages in the interior. A battle was fought on the 18th, near Leon, between the Government troops under Guradista, and the Democratic army, under Munos; the latter was defeated and Munos

On motion of Mr. Beatty, from Finance Committee, to whom was referred a communication from the engineer, appointing John W. Gray assistant, the same was referred back to the Engineer.

Mr. Pennebaker, from the Revision Committee, to whom was referred the resignation of T. C. Pomeroy, made the following report, which was referred to a select committee, consisting of Messrs. Pennebaker and Beatty, with instructions to make such just and equitable arrangements with T. C. Pomeroy as will enable him to proceed with his collections for the present year, by taking back such bills for last year and other years as were wrongfully as-sessed, and those which he has retained when the parties are insolvent and against those who had gone from the city with their property and effects before the collector had an opportunity to see them.

Gentlemen of the Common Council;

Your committee, to whom was referred a message from his honor the Mayor, enclosing the resignation of T. C. Pomeroy, Esq., Tax-Collector of the Western District, with instructions to report a list of the names of persons for whom money had been advanced to the city by the collector, the amount so advanced, &c would respectfully submit the following re-

The list of names, accompanied by a communication from Mr. Pomeroy, is herewith exhib-ited and made part of this report. The list re-ferred to shows that advances have been made for many persons, in taxes, upon property which does not belong to the persons against whom the assessment was made; all bills of this character assessment was made; all bills or this character should, in justice to Mr. Pomeroy, be returned, the money be refunded and the property correctly assessed, and the bills relisted for collection in the hands of the collector. Other bills retained by him are against persons who are now and always have been insolvent. These he should not be allowed to lose. Any civil officer has a right to resign whenever he chooses to do so, and all the city can require of this officer is a settlement of his accounts up to the date of his resignation. In an interview with Mr. Pomeroy, the chairman of your committee learned from him that he is willing to retain his office and make the collections, provided the city will assume the $2,236 60, which he has heretofore paid, and relist the bills for collection. This collector settled his accounts the 10th day of last March, his salary is $1500. Now are last March; his salary is $1,500. Now, six months afterwards, he has in his hands uncollected bills of last year to the amount of $1,810 27. An office which will subject the holder of it to such heavy penalties is certainly not very desirable. Your committee would therefore suggest, as a matter of justice, that this report and all the accompanying documents be referred to a joint committee to make such just and equitable arrangements with the collector as will enable him to proceed with his collections for the present year. Mr. Pomeroy has held the office for many years, and has proved himself, by his untiring devotion to the interests of the city, one of the most faithful and efficient officers that the city ever had, and it might be an experiment attended with some difficulty to find any other disposition of this subject than is suggested by the laws and usages on the subject of resignations of city officers, The same reported a resolution, granting an auction license to Green & Burke, which was a successor who will be as efficient in the future as the past history of collections in the Western District of the city of Louisville has proved Mr. Pomeroy to be. But the papers and instructions will not authorize this committee to make was adopted. Mr. Gailbraith presented a resolution that the General Council meet in joint session at 10 e'clock to elect a supernumerary watchman for the Sixth Ward, which was adopted and con-curred in by the Board of Aldermen.

Mr. Beatty presented a resolution directing "the street inspectors of both districts to employ hands under direction of the Street Committees and City Engineer and cause a sufficient width of the streets along the line of the southern ditch, from Second to Ninth street, to be graded according to the plan lately adopted by said Council, so as to pass the water on the surface of said streets—the cost not to exceed the appropriation for the southern ditch," which was adopted.

Mr. Shanks presented a resolution directing the Mayor to discontinue the services of all superintendents and hands at the cut-off, except

Wm. Richardson, and not more than five carts and fifteen men.

Mr. Vaughan moved to amend, by striking out the name of W. Richardson and inserting that of Jno. W. Tompkins, which motion was lost; whereupon the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Pennebaker being in the chair, Mr. Riley presented a resolution directing the Mayor to ascertain on what terms the lot on the south side of Broadway, between Fifth and Centre, can be purchased of — Lindenberger, for the purpose of erecting a market-house thereon, which was adopted.

Mr. Vaughan presented a resolution to repair the alley between Eighth and Ninth and Mar-ket and Jefferson streets, which was rejected. Mr. Shanks presented a resolution directing the day watch to see that all ordinances, prohibiting the throwing of filth in streets and alleys, are enforced, which was adopted.

Mr. Vaughan presented a resolution directing the Engineer to report a profile of a bridge over Beargrass creek, at the intersection of the Brownsboro' turnpike road, the cost to come within the appropriation, which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Beatty, the Board then went into an election for a committee of two, to revise the City Charter, in accordance with a resolution to that effect, and Messrs. Riley and Moore, having received a majority, were accordingly appointed on said committee.

Mr. String offered a resolution allowing Chas.

Colyer's representatives $40, which was referred to the Police Committee.

Mr. Sisson obtained leave of absence. A resolution from the Board of Aldermen directing the city attorney to report:

First—Whether the ordinance authorizing the purchase of Strader & Thompson's wharf and the subsequent ordinance and vote of the people confirming the same, are binding on the and authorize the issue and delivery of the bonds of the city in payment for same.

Second-Whether or not the original ordinance authoring the purchase (being void) can be confirmed and made binding on the city in the manner in which it was attempted to be

Third—Whether the title to the property is a good and valid one, and whether or not the owners are able to make to the city a clear title to the same.

In response to the above the attorney is re quired to give his written opinion and report all the facts upon which that opinion is predicated —was read and adopted.

A resolution from the Board of Aldermen directing the city attorney to report whether or not Second street, between Broadway and York streets has ever been condemned, dedicated, deeded or in any wise so recognised as a street by the proprietors of lots binding on same as to entitle the city to cause the same to be opened and graded and paved, was adopted.

BRAINARD BROTHERS, a18 j&b Chickering's Parlor Grand Pianos.

ured by Chickering & Sons, late Jonas Chick Boston, Mass., and for sale by BRAINARD BROTHERS, Jacob's Block, 74 Fourth street, near Main.

The Parlor Grand is the very perfection of all Grand Planos, and is particularly adapted to the wants of professors, amateurs, and others who may object to the great size of a Full Grand.

Grand.

Grand.

The unique and beautiful style of this instrument and its perfect fitness for the parler are commendations that will not apply to the ordinary Grand Piano. For, while it combines the tone, power, action, and appearance of a Full Grand, it has the delicate touch of 'chickering' Square Pianos, acknowledged by every one superior to any other, and, though of seven octave compass, is still smaller in size than the semi-Grand Piano of 6% octaves, as it occupies but little more space than a 7 octave Square Piano.

The peculiar and compact construction of the Parlor Grand, an invention of the late lamented Jonas Chickering, is a sure guarantee of its durability. And the complete success of this new and truly beautiful instrument fully sustains the reputation of its inventor and manufacturers.

We have already sold several of these instruments in this city, and, to meet the increased demand for them, have arranged for a constant supply.

To these superb Piano-Fortes we invite the attention of the public. Those in want of a Grand Piano should examine the Parlor Grand before purchasing. They are made only by Chickering & Sons, and can be had only of ourselves in this city, BRAINARD BROTTHERS, also jab Jacob's Block, Fourthst., near Main.

Chickering Pianos.

New Catholic Books.

New Catholic Books.

"THE Studies and Teaching of the Society of Jesus at the time of its suppression—1750—1753." Translated from the French of M. L. Abbe Maynard. We have just received a few copies of this new work. and we think many persons in this community might read it with great profit.

"An Inquiry into the Principles of Church Authority, or Reasons for recalling my subscription to the Royal Supremary." By the Rev. R. J. Wilherforce, M. A., late of the English Church.

"The Blessed Sacrament, or the Works and Ways of God." By Frederick William Faber. D. D., author of "Jill for Jesus." "Growth in Holiness," &c.

We have also received a few copies of "Butlest sok of the Roman Catholic Church," a work eminently suited to disabuse the minds of the well-disposed in regard to the Temporal Power of the Pope and other equally absurd questions which have lately agitated the public mind.
